Project 2 Summary

Hassan Taghavi Rad

Our group project was the Pandas project. After reviewing the issues, I selected issue number #60600 and tried to solve this problem. Due to the lack of structural documentation and my unfamiliarity with contributing in projects of this kind, I spent a lot of time understanding the problem and finding its source. So, I decided to add a document to the project in addition to solving this problem to experience that part of collaborating on the project. Finally, by adding the Persian version of the Pandas cheat sheet to the project, I experienced the pull request, update pull request, and merge steps. After applying the requested changes, this document has been merged into the project. pull request
